More than livestock at 4-H/FFA fair

Fair schedule on A3

Four of the eight contestants are from Westminster, on the right分别是: Livingstone and New Windsor.

The fair is open to the public and is sponsored by the Carroll County Fair Commission and the Maryland Agricultural Education Foundation.

"We don't have the plan finished, but every year no one is sure of the plan," Mrs. Joiner said. "We just say, 'there's where we are.'"

A master plan helps plan all areas of the fair. It shows all the different sections of the fair, the number of people at each section, and the growth. It takes into account events, such as an annual fair, that are planned.

Local candidates discuss the issues

By Staff Writer

Westminster-area residents and others will get a chance next week to participate in the development of a master plan for the county's growth. Carroll planning department will display 11 work sessions planning the progress to date of the Fair. The booth will include a papier mache items, maps showing the progress to date of a map showing existing zoning and use patterns and proposed land use plans and topographical constraints.

The maps, showing existing zoning and use patterns and topographical constraints, will be displayed in room 306 of the county office building Monday, Aug. 2. Through Friday, Aug. 4, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The booth will be open Tuesday, Aug. 3, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Local planning will be present to answer questions and receive suggestions.

"We are looking for comments," Mrs. Joiner emphasized, noting that this is an opportunity for citizens to participate directly in the planning process.

County planners and the Westminster City Planning Office will help make the planning process easier to understand.

"I have a heart for those who are sick, and I have a heart to do it," said Mrs. Pierce, who is the president of the Westminster Garden Club, a volunteer organization that helps keep the city's public parks and gardens looking their best.

The club is asking candidates to endorse one of its members to run for a seat on the city council. The club said it was interested in supporting candidates who are endorsed, but will not endorse candidates who are not interested in working with the club.

Irish teen-agers ready to leave U.S.

BY GEORGE FORDHAM

Fatima and Mary were 15 years old, from Ulster, Ireland. They were driving to New York City, where they would board a boat to the United States.

Fatima said, "We are looking forward to a new life in America. We have heard stories from our friends who have already come here." Mary added, "We are excited about the opportunity to learn English and to try new things in a new country."}

Congregation to evangelize nation

The US Catholic Conference's Ecumenical Community has signed an agreement with the American Baptist Churches USA to start a new diocese in the United States. This will be the first coalition of its kind in the country. The two organizations will work together to bring the gospel to all people, regardless of their religious background.

Baptist women demand right to preach

The Baptist Women's Action Network (BWAN) has called for the church to allow women to preach in the pulpit. BWAN is a group of women who support the ordination of women as ministers. The group believes that women have the same gifts and callings as men and should be able to serve in all areas of the church.

Japanese Kabuki theater allows East to meet West

By GERALD PEECHMAN

The popular theater was brought to the United States by the Kabuki actor Nakamura Shikan, who founded the first Kabuki theater in America in 1862. Since then, the theater has spread across the country, attracting audiences from all walks of life. The Kabuki performance is a unique combination of music, dance, and drama, with actors wearing elaborate makeup and costumes. The performances are often accompanied by a live orchestra, creating a captivating atmosphere that draws in audiences from all over the world.

Library honors summer readers

The Carroll County Public Library is hosting a celebration to honor the children who have completed the summer reading program. The event will feature a special performance by the local high school drama club, as well as refreshments and games for the kids. Parents are encouraged to attend and support their children as they celebrate their reading achievements.
